

Title: A Multivariate Matrix Pencil Method.

Abstract:

Prony's method is an eigenvalue analysis based method for the reconstruction of finite exponential sums from equidistant measurements. Here, we present a numerically feasible multivariate generalization of Prony's method together with an application in fluorescence microscopy.