

INTERNATIONAL SUMMER SCHOOL IN SOCIAL SCIENCES

6th to 20th August

INTERNATIONAL MIGRATION IN A GLOBALISED WORLD

You are interested in international migration and you are in the middle or near the end of your undergraduate program? This is the right Summer School for you! We offer you two weeks of intensive, interdisciplinary and participative courses on international migration. You get insight into reasons of migration and the effects on societies of receiving countries. In the end you will be able to lead profound discussions on this issue. For further information see: www.uni-goettingen.de/internationalmigration

WORKSHOPS:

Dr. Carola Betzold: Migration, Islands and Climate

Prof. Alexander K. Nagel: Migration, Refuge and Religious Pluralization

Prof. Silke Hans: Immigrant Incorporation – the Case of Refugees

Dr. Susanne Becker, Max Planck Institute: Language, Power and Migration - Linguistic diversity in a globalized world

Additional offers: Beside the academic offer you will have the chance to visit a leading German research university in Germany which is located in the beautiful city of Göttingen. You will also be able to have a tour to the most influential modern art festival in the world "documenta 14" in Kassel on the weekend.
